The biggest thing I've learned about through my grandparents (Bob & Rosamond) was the virtue of unconditional love. Witnessing my grandfathers condition(dehabilitation via stroke) over the years and seeing how my grandmother tirelessly helped him was a lesson that I will carry with me forever. My grandparents were the most instrumental in preparing me for life more than any other persons. I spent many days with them as a child learning things from swimming, gardening, math, science, landscaping, cooking, etc. Each one of these lessons always brought me back around to the main one. Love. I am blessed to have such an inspirational upbringing.
